SURIN SILK

The most fascinating silk in the world
By Narumol Wiengwiset & Seri Kantajai

Surin Province is known for its complex weaving, yielding amazing pieces of art, with the finest work found in small villages. There the looms vary from traditional size to the very large and multi-level ones, and where mudmee (ikat) silk as well as brocaded silk are produced.

Narumol Wiengwiset and Seri Kantajai, both cultural ambassadors of Surin Province, were in the past involved in business as well as in charitable and educational work. The objective of their presentation is to introduce Surin silk, which they regard as the most fascinating silk in the world, its appreciation and use in daily life. Both will bring their respective collections of old and new silks for viewing, and demonstrate the ways these can be worn.

Note: Please bring a flat piece of silk (untailored) to learn and practice the uses of Surin silk.
